

who have been timid because of the fate of their Chicago brethren will now take heart and begin to appear in public.

He predicted a growth of the Anarchistic sentiment that will give the organized Anarchists a standing in the political parties in this country and will eventually place them in control.

"We will win the way we won in Chicago, and we will win in that way in New York," he said.

John Burgee, another Anarchistic orator, was equally confident that Gov. Altgeld's action will give a boom to the cause in New York.

"It has been," he said, "police could make a complaint they pleased against us, and judges and juries would convict on mere statements, but we would not be convicted on mere statements. It will be different now."

"Gov. Altgeld," he said, "is a man of Chicago, and we are both of us, and we will now get friends of standing in New York."

"It is urged that such ferocity or subterfuge is without a parallel in history, that even Jeffries, in England, contented himself with hanging his victims and did not stop to berate them after they were dead."

THE PARDONED ANARCHISTS.

They From the Banker Dreyer to Abjure Anarchy Forever.

CHICAGO, June 27.—The pardoned Anarchists, Schwab, Neefe and Fielden, arrived in this city at 2:30 p.m. on the special train. A large crowd had gathered at the Dearborn station to witness the arrival.

The three men and Banker Dreyer left the train at Twenty-third street to avoid a demonstration, and went quietly to their homes.

On the way up from Joliet the three men promised Mr. Dreyer to eschew all Anarchistic action, and to give up the sentiment that next to freedom the most desirable thing was security, and the other two men agreed with him.

At their homes the men were greeted by a few of their friends, who congratulated them on their return.

The men were overjoyed at regaining their freedom. Their meeting with their families was touching.

Young Mamie McLaughlin Tries to Kill Herself in Newark.

Love Affair with an Italian Said to Be the Cause.

NEWARK, N. J., June 27.—Mamie McLaughlin, sixteen years old, of 29 Augusta street, is in St. Barnabas' Hospital recovering from the effects of a dose of kerosene oil and ultra marine blue, taken with suicidal intent.

Early last night an excited man, hatless, coatless and barefooted, rushed into St. Barnabas' Hospital, and breathlessly told the nurse that his daughter had attempted suicide.

In answer to questions the man said that he was William McLaughlin, and that he lived at 29 Augusta street. He explained that he had been asleep and was aroused by his daughter's screams.

When he jumped from his couch he found his daughter lying on the floor, her face covered with kerosene oil, in which had been dissolved a quantity of ultra marine blue.

Without waiting to dress he ran for assistance, and called a doctor, who came with the police ambulance to the house at once. The officers found the girl motionless and breathing.

In great pain she was placed in the ambulance and taken to St. Barnabas' Hospital, where she was placed in a ward, and she presently fell into a sound sleep.

When the policeman appeared at the house the girl's mother was disinclined to allow her to be removed.

"Don't arrest my daughter," she cried. "Arrest Joe Muller. He's the one that ought to be arrested. He ruined my daughter's life."

The "Joe Muller" to whom the mother referred, is a young Italian fruit dealer, who has been in the city for some time, and who is said to be in the vicinity of Morris Park.

The mother said that she was in the habit of going to the fruit dealer's store, and that she was in the habit of going to the fruit dealer's store, and that she was in the habit of going to the fruit dealer's store.

Curious Method of Placing Figures for Addition and Subtraction.

The arithmetic of the Cambodians differs widely from that of other nations. In the first place, their system of enumeration is quite peculiar by counting up to 5, as follows: 1, boy, 2, boy, 3, 4, 5, and 1, and so on.

In addition the Cambodians do not write the numbers in a vertical line, as we do, but they write them in a horizontal line, and they write them in a horizontal line, and they write them in a horizontal line.

ARABIA'S LAUGHING PLANT.

It Produces an Effect Similar to Laughing Gas.

This plant, says Falgrave in his work on Central and Eastern Arabia, is a native of that country, and its seeds produce on any one eating them effects analogous to those of laughing gas, says London Tid-Bits. The flowers are produced in clusters, and are yellow in color; the seeds contain two or three hundred and fifty grains of the laughing gas.

Their flavor is slightly like that of opium and taste sweet, while their odor is like that of the seeds of the laughing gas. They are pulverized and taken in small doses. Any one taking them begins to laugh, and the laughing continues for about an hour.

When the excitement ceases the exhausted individual falls into a deep sleep, and awakes from which he is utterly unconscious of any such demonstrations. The seeds of the laughing plant are used by the natives of the laughing plant.
